

Carrollton Christian Fellowship

Day 1: God's Love and Restoration

Reading: Genesis 3:1-15, John 3:16-17

Devotional: In the garden, we see humanity's fall from grace, but we also witness God's immediate promise of restoration. Despite our rebellion, God's love remains constant. He doesn't abandon us in our sin but provides a way back to Him. Just as God sought Adam and Eve in the garden, He seeks us today. Reflect on how God has pursued you in your life. How have you experienced His restoring love? Consider areas where you might be hiding from God and invite His presence into those spaces.

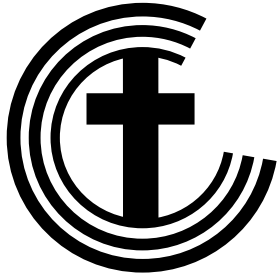

Carrollton Christian Fellowship

Day 2: Faith in the Face of Conflict

Reading: Genesis 4:1-16, Hebrews 11:4

Devotional: Cain and Abel illustrate for us today the conflict that arises when we choose our own way over God's. Abel's faith led him to offer an acceptable sacrifice, while Cain's pride resulted in rejection and violence towards those who choose God's evaluations. In our lives, we often face similar choices - will we trust God's way or insist on our own? Examine your heart today. Are there areas where pride is preventing you from fully trusting God? Ask the Holy Spirit to cultivate in your heart a faith like Abel's, one that seeks to please God above all else.

Carrollton Christian Fellowship

Day 3: The Power of God's Presence

Reading: Genesis 5:21-24, Jude 1:14-15

Devotional: Enoch's brief mention in Genesis speaks volumes about the power of walking with God. In a world marked by sin, Enoch chose intimate fellowship with the Lord. This close relationship resulted in his extraordinary departure from earth. While we may not be taken directly to heaven like Enoch, we can experience the transformative power of God's presence in our daily lives. How can you cultivate a closer walk with God today? Consider setting aside specific times to simply be in God's presence, listening for His voice and enjoying His company.

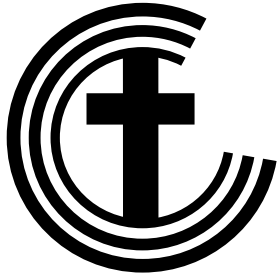

Carrollton Christian Fellowship

Day 4: Hope in a Fallen World

Reading: Genesis 5:1-32, Romans 5:12-21

Devotional: The genealogy in Genesis 5 might seem like a simple list of names, but it carries a powerful message of hope. In a world tainted by sin, where death reigns, life continues. God's promise of redemption remains. Each new generation represents an opportunity for faith to be passed on and for God's purposes to be fulfilled. In Christ, we have the ultimate fulfillment of this hope - life conquering death. Reflect on the legacy of faith in your own life. How has the Lord established you as a bearer of hope in your family, community, or workplace?

Carrollton Christian Fellowship

Day 5: Divine Purpose in Suffering

Reading: Genesis 3:16-19, Romans 8:18-25

Devotional: The consequences of sin brought suffering into the world - pain in childbirth, toil in work, and ultimately death. Yet even in pronouncing these judgments, God wove in threads of redemption. Work, though difficult, can be meaningful. Family, though challenging, can be a source of joy. And death, though painful, is not the end for those in Christ. Consider the challenges you're facing today. How might God be using these difficulties to shape you and draw you closer to Him? Ask for the strength to persevere and the wisdom to see God's purposes in your struggles.